

NELA Ternes closes deal with Savannah Morning News at NEXPO 02

St. Paul MN / NEXPO 02, Orlando, FL, June 25, 2002-- NELA Ternes announces the sale of two inline VCPs (Vision PunchBending) machines with multiple stacking systems to the Savannah Morning News.

The both units will register plates for the Goss Metro as well as Goss Urbanite Press lines. The machines are fully redundant and are able to handle each single plate size as well as panorama plates. The Savannah Morning News is currently building a state-of-the-art facility, which is scheduled for production start in early 2003.
